

Don't Let This One Bounce Off

Take this straight from Uncle, it won't cost you a red cent—when you are ready for a tobacco that will absolutely satisfy that craving for a smartless, biteless smoke that smells sweet and clean and tastes good and wholesome, just you mosey around to the nearest shop where they exchange pipe food for the coin of the Republic and ask for the national joy smoke

PRINCE ALBERT

This is the one tobacco in these good old U. S. A. that's minus the tongue bite and broil. Why? Because they're taken out by a patented process controlled exclusively by us.

Buy a tidy red tin of P. A., 10c, or a toppy red bag, 5c, to carry on your hip for pipe and cigarette ammunition; but for home and office we buy the joyous crystal-glass humidor that comes with a pound purchase of good old P. A. It keeps the tobacco pipe-fit and in prime smoking condition down to the last pipeful.

Paste this little suggestion in your hat against Christmas—the P. A. crystal-glass humidor makes a man-size gift.

Flexibility

A dash of speed, a pull up a long hill, a steady plugging through the heavy road, a quiet gliding through the crowded city streets—these varying requirements are all alike to the 1915 Chalmers "Light Six".

It's ready for any of them and it does them all equally well "on high."

All "sixes" are more flexible than "fours". But the Chalmers "Light Six"—built complete in the Chalmers shops—has a range of speed and power unequalled in other cars of the same rated horsepower.

This great car will walk along at two miles per hour without the slightest motor-hesitation. And then in 10 seconds, with just a touch of the accelerator, you can reach 25 miles an hour. Chalmers engineers design it and Chalmers-trained men build it to do things at which other can later.

You can start on high from a standing position. You can weave your way through traffic without touching the gear lever. You can do a score of things that the Chalmers "Real Test" Ride will prove.

Please come and try it.

CORPUS CHRISTI EDUCATORS ARE PRAISED FOR EFFORTS

San Antonian Appreciated the Manner in Which Teachers Convention Was Landed.

A writer in the San Antonio Light yesterday had the following to say concerning the manner in which Corpus Christi educators secured the 1915 convention of the State Teachers' Association for this city:

"As citizens of San Antonio we may well congratulate ourselves on having held among us that worthy host of Texas state teachers."

These honest, honorable men and women, who as teachers of our sons and daughters are to live over again in the lives of tomorrow's men and women, are themselves, we are gratified to note, men and women of that higher type who feel the responsibility and far-reaching possibilities of their profession.

We rejoice that they brought to us a wholesome moral and technical tone that has not and shall not pass with their passing beyond our gates, but shall abide to bless our citizenship.

Teachers of Texas, to you, our "lather strung ever hangs on the outside." We bid you come again.

As a rule San Antonio is quite successful in procuring conventions. And yet we will do well to take notes from that plucky little bunch who came to carry the great annual meeting of the teachers to Corpus Christi, their "home away from home" by the sea.

Though buying Waco, Houston and Dallas as competitors, they worked with an undaunted faith and courage that carried overwhelming triumph for Corpus Christi, as the teachers seemed to appreciate the earnest effort with which their meeting was sought by this southern border city.

Not only was the invitation extended by their county superintendent, Mr. Denton, and their Mayor, Mr. Miller, but Mr. Eby, president of the Corpus Christi Investment Company, had promised him a large playground carrying catchy names such as:

"Corpus Christi Wants You for Your Worth."

"Southern Sunshine Entreats You to Corpus."

"Fishing is Fine at Corpus Christi."

With these and other motives, they irresistibly lined the walls of the teachers assembly hall and placed them conspicuously in the various hotels. Then too "Corpus Christi" white ribbon badges were pinned on every teacher who would agree to pull for this coming little city.

Those Corpus Christi citizens evidently know a good thing when they see it and believe in working for a thing of worth.

GAS COMPANY LEASES OFFICE ROOM IN GIVENS BUILDING

Plans for Building Have Been Abandoned for the Present.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Corpus Christi Gas company has abandoned, at least for the present, plans for erecting an office building on company property, at the corner of Chaparral and Alvarado streets. The building planned to be a two-story modern structure, will not be built for at least another six months according to officials of the company.

Instead, the company yesterday leased a lease with H. B. Givens, for the south side room of the Royal Givens building on 8th Chaparral street. This room has a frontage of forty feet and is nearly four in depth. It will be occupied on and after January 1 by the Gas company for office and storage room purposes.

The decision to postpone building operations by the gas company was caused by the fact that during the past two weeks the company has made investments for mineral, hundreds of acres of land near Corpus Christi and is now preparing to begin drilling two or more wells, hoping to secure a big flow of natural gas, the statement given out by officials.

PERSONAL MENTION

George H. Corlett of San Antonio who for several years operated the Four Seasons Cafe in this city, is now on a short business trip.

Mr. H. H. Whetstone and his son Max and brother Whetstone Jr. are spending the holidays with relatives in Austin. They will be joined at Christmas by Mr. Whetstone.

Dr. M. H. Haffner left yesterday for Duval county for a several days hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller of San Antonio are visiting in the city at the request of friends.

W. H. Watson of Robstown was in the city yesterday on a business trip.

W. L. Pearson of Houston who has the contract for building the Nueces County courthouse is a visitor in the city stopping at the Nueces.

J. H. Dentforth prominent business man of San Antonio spent yesterday in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lane of Oklahoma City are tourists in the city stopping at the Nueces.

J. W. Clegg who was called here by the death of his uncle M. P. Clegg, last night remained here anyway. Friend, you are an enemy to Jesus until you surrender to Him and yet while we were His enemies He died for us.

There's no neutral ground. You either love Him or you don't. You are either for Him or you are against Him. If you invite me to your house I must either accept or reject.

Notice, fourthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

"Summer and evening star,

And one clear call for me!

May there be no meaning of the last.

When I put out to sea?"

Lastly, notice that it was for the sake of somebody else that David remembered this boy. Just so it is for Christ's sake that God offers an salvation. Did God never stand beneath the cross of Christ and look into His face and see His agony as He died for you and me? It was for Him that God brings us this free and full salvation and tenderly calls us tonight.

Dr. Thacker's preaching in this service was even more pleading and impressive than on other nights and the congregation sat spellbound throughout.

During this service Mr. Fisher sang two beautiful solo.

"SUCH A DEAD DOG" WAS THEME OF DR. THACKER LAST NIGHT

REVIVAL SERVICES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH GROW IN INTEREST.

Special Service This Morning of Officers, Teachers and Workers—The Program for Today.

Announcements for Today.

This morning at 10:15 a service for officers of the churches and Sunday school teachers and Christian workers.
Tonight at 7:45 Subject "A Revival of Sing." The large church choir will sing and Mr. Fisher will contribute two solos.

Last night proved that the revival services at the Presbyterian Church have an immense hold on the people of Corpus Christi.

Often in meetings like this Monday night is an "off night". It was not so in this case though the congregation was not as large as the throng that had crowded the house on the previous night to hear Mr. Thacker's sermon on "Is There a Hell?" and comparatively was much larger.

The song service led by the large and well-trained choir did perhaps the great work of the entire meeting. Dr. Thacker read the 8th chapter of 2 Samuel, which contains a lovely sequel to the beautiful friendship of David and Jonathan. Saul and Jonathan are both dead and David is in undisputed possession of the kingdom. But his heart goes back to his friend Jonathan, whom he had loved "as his own soul," and with a splendid gratitude he inquires whether any of Jonathan's children still live, that for Jonathan's sake he may show them favor. He learns that Jonathan had left one crippled boy, Mephibosheth, who David sends him out and gives him a place at his own table, and gives him in spite of the property that was Saul's and Jonathan's. It was on this occasion that the great crippled boy uttered the words of the 2nd Psalm, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

Mr. Thacker said that this verse calls to mind two beautiful stories.

The first is that of David and Jonathan. Here Mr. Thacker recited the story practically as told above. This is but the first of many instances of the story of God, seeking out the lost sheep. Moses and Mephibosheth were all deformed. He was really humiliated by his deformity. Note the humility in David. It's the old story of sin and the deformity of it and Jesus in His wonderful love coming to us. This is a fact of which the simplest is conscious.

Dr. Thacker told a pathetic story of a mother who was saving her baby from the fire, but burned her hands until they were reptiles. But how beautiful they were to the child. Jesus' hands were wounded to save us from sin.

Notice again that this boy was all indifferent to the King. But it was the King who remembered him. So it is that while we have been forgetful and negligent, Jesus has never been so to us. We remembered us when we forgot him.

Notice here told of a man who against the protests of his friends had gone out to a week time and time again until he fell prostrate on the shore, who only wanted to know if he could die next. Have you and I done our best for God, or have we just gone on indifferent and forgetful?

Notice also of a man who was almost at enmity to David, but David loved him anyway. Friend, you are an enemy to Jesus until you surrender to Him and yet while we were His enemies He died for us.

Notice, finally, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, fourthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, fifthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, sixthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, seventhly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, eighthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need. Just so God makes every possible provision for all unworthy children.

Notice, ninthly, that David gave this boy all that he needed for the present and enough for the future. Not only to eat at his table, but provided for every future need.
